

Stop Chasing Down Receipts

Connect Emburse expense management software to Amazon Business purchasing, and streamline your expense management and reconciliation processes today!

Amazon Business is awesome...

Amazon Business is a purchasing solution that provides business owners with access to a vast network of suppliers, an easy ordering experience, and savings designed for business purchases. Millions of organizations like you use Amazon Business to make business purchases on corporate credit cards, and as you know, many of these purchases contain multiple items.

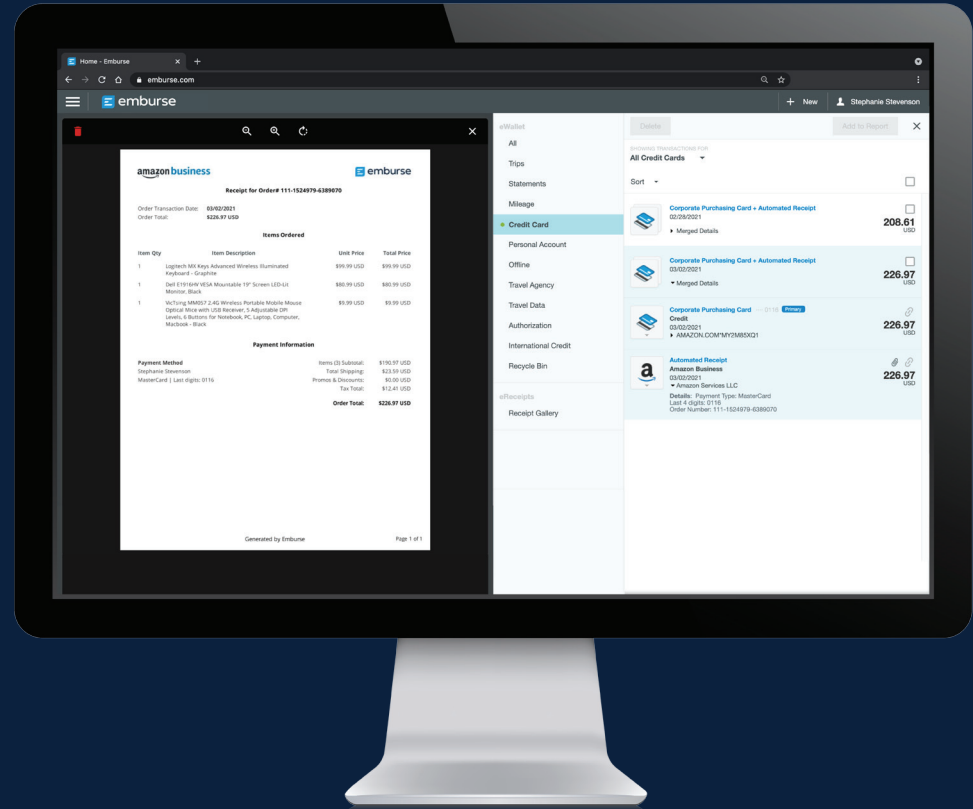

...except for this one thing

Employees who need to submit expenses reports to reconcile these Amazon purchases have traditionally needed to manually break down receipts in the expense report and create line items for each item. If you're buying a couple of items, that may not be a major inconvenience, but it can be a significant time commitment for purchases with several items. In addition, uploading receipts into an expense management solution and reconciling line-item breakdowns to bank or credit card statements are time-consuming, manual, and fraught with error.

The good news is, there is a better way!

New Amazon Business expense management integration enables your success

Amazon Business is teaming up with Emburse to offer a simplified expense process. With this integration, your Emburse expense management solution fetches the invoice details of all the purchases you've made through your Amazon Business account and creates expenses automatically. This helps you manage all your business purchases in one place and saves your employees the trouble of recording expenses manually.

Automating the import process into your spend management system will benefit your business

Use this handy as a “shopping list” when looking around for the best solution for your needs:

Take control of your spend

- Integration: Easily connect Amazon Business and Emburse expense management accounts to capture purchase data for all future transactions.
- Automated tracking: When the order ships, the system automatically imports purchase data into expense management application for fast, simplified reconciliation.
- Automatic receipts: Each expense transaction created from the purchase data automatically generates a receipt, eliminating the need to submit receipts individually. There's no need to reconcile transactions against statements.

Simplify spend management

- Eliminate manual data entry
- Reduce administrative time
- Add line-item visibility
- Reduce errors
- Speed up reconciliation
- Speed up reviews & approvals
- Reduce waste & fraud
- Provide deep-spend insights

Reshape expense reporting

- Expenses with line-item detail are automatically created in the expense management application, saving time on reconciling purchases. If you're an administrator, you'll gain visibility on spending patterns, increase line-item clarity to ensure spend is compliant, and reduce risk from error-prone manual expense workflows.
